AGAIN SELECTED FOR COUNTY AGENT

R. T. GLASSCO

$10,000 DAMAGE IN WAREHOUSE BLAZE

Stock of C. Ed. Moss Grocer Co. Is Partially Destroyed.

Suffering a loss from fire, smoke and water that may exceed $10,000, the C. Ed. Moss Grocer company was the victim late Saturday afternoon of the fourth of a series of disastrous fires in Janesville in the past month and which will make 1922 one of the worst years for fire losses since 1915.

The origin of the fire has not been determined although it is believed it started from the furnace in the basement. The ceiling of the store next to the furnace was damaged and the flames were shooting up the elevator shaft when the fire department responded to an alarm from box 151 at 5:03 p. m.

Stock Water Damaged.
While considerable fire damage was caused to the stock of groceries and canned goods, the chief damage was from smoke, which filled the building and water, three streams of which were turned into the basement and the first floor.

With the aid of new gas masks, here on trial, firemen were able to fight the blaze more efficiently, being able to enter the building with the hose and pump.

"I wouldn't let the masks go back to the company if I had to buy 'em myself," declared Chief C. J. Murphy, Monday. "Had it not been for the masks we would have been working there until late in the night."

Can't Estimate Loss
Although the building, owned by the St. Paul railroad company, was damaged some, the chief loss is on the grocery company's stock, which is covered by $10,000 insurance.

Carl Schaefer, secretary of the firm, said Monday, the loss would run from $8,000 to $12,000, but could make no better estimate until insurance adjusters had been called in.

Victor I. Clark, one of the active officers of the corporation, C. Ed. Moss having left the firm several months ago.

The firemen broke the caps on two hydrants in closing down after the fire. A hundred feet of hose was laid.

Sunday afternoon, the fire department was called out by a scare at the Rotstein flats, across from the C. Ed. Moss store, where a fire was burning.

Sixty cars were given in which to comply with the order.

Action of the railroad commission is the result of efforts of Evansville businessmen to get protection at the crossing where a Janesville woman, servant of a Rockford couple, was killed several months ago.

OLD HYATT HOUSE FIRE STARTS NEW STORY OF LOVE AND MYSTERY

The greatest fire tragedy ever known in Janesville was the burning of the Hyatt House in January, 1887. A maid perished at the time. There had been no hotel anywhere in a city of the size of Janesville in the midwest so complete as the Hyatt.

The Hyatt House is a center of a romance which has been written for the Gazette and will appear in the Week End Gazette with the first installment next Saturday.

Be sure to start "THE CALSKIN TRUNK" with the first chapter. It is a thrilling story of mystery in the days of the Civil War. Some are still living who will remember Camp Treadway where the 12th Wisconsin was recruited and had their first camp. Get the Week and Gazette next Saturday.

THE CITY'S OPPORTUNITY

Inability to secure an option on the Riverside Park property again brings the matter of purchase directly before the city council this evening.

The hour for argument about the need for a park seems to have passed and the time for action is here.

Janesville is bound to grow. The Chevrolet and Fisher body plants are nearing completion. Every financial journal has good news of the General Motors corporation and its subsidiaries. But we have people enough here now to make a park a necessity. The outdoor life has come to be a great factor in the health of every community. You cannot raise a healthy boy or girl in a locked room. And the older people have need for recreation for out of doors. They have no country clubs and many are without automobiles to carry them to other amusement and recreation parks.

It is for everybody—a park system—and especially for the masses. There is every opportunity for the park to be made a great resort. Its landscape gives promise of usefulness for all recreational activities. And more than that it is along the river for a mile with the most attractive stream of water in the state to be utilized for every sort of water sport.

There has been gathered by vote of the council and support of the people of the city a fund for a park. That is in the hands of the council for use. It becomes acutely interesting, at this moment, because the owners of the property, living outside the city, have far sight enough to know that with the growth of the city and a continuation of the return to good business conditions, the place will attract someone who will rejuvenate the amusement park and it will be lost to the city forever.

Mayor Welsh has carefully examined into the matter. He has opposed a purchase until the price was lowered to a point entirely within reach of the city. That time has come as he has explained to the council in giving his support to the purchase.

It may be said that the biggest step in making Janesville a real city can be taken by the council tonight. There are all sorts of possibilities in the future to make the park known from one end of the country to another. Nowhere is such a park along the river except at Rockford, where the advantages of the river have been taken into full consideration.

Janesville was the second city in the state in 1859. It was stunted by failure to act wisely at the proper time in arranging for real expansion.

It is to be hoped the purchase of Riverside will be authorized and the most important step taken in making Janesville like Rock county, first in public spirited cities of the state, by the city council tonight.

Alleged Plotter Seeking Freedom

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]
Detroit.—Efforts to obtain a reduction of the $25,000 bail fixed in the case of Mrs. May B. Ford, charged with plotting the death of her husband, Roy J. Ford, were being made Monday by her attorney, J. H. Smith, of Detroit.

Dutton declared a writ of habeas corpus would be sought if reduction of the bail is refused.

Flaugh, accused of seeking to engage a professional gunman to kill her husband, were proceeding Monday. Her examination has been fixed for Dec. 13. A speedy trial will be urged, Mrs. Ford indicated.

At the county jail, Mrs. Ford reiterated her charge that she was the victim of a "frame up." A preliminary hearing of her suit for divorce had been set for Dec. 12.

"This charge," Mrs. Ford declared, "is a 'frame up' to put me out of the way and avoid a divorce settlement that would be distinctly unfavorable to Mr. Ford."

Mrs. Ford admitted having drawn a map of her husband's farm at Dearborn, near here, declared it was sketched to assist friends in Ohio in finding their way to the farm by automobile.

She asserted the map had been sent to these friends and brought back to the house by them. They would be asked to testify at her trial, she said, and refute the charge that she had sketched the map to facilitate and attack on her husband.

Joseph Eckert, resident engineer, said construction on the Fisher Body plant is progressing and that the steel framework for the windows in the brick work will soon be installed. The brick work is about 75 percent complete and all the steel, girders needed to support the roof are in place. The cement tile roof is being laid.

Work on Saturdays.
Between eight and ten carloads of machinery have been received and unloaded for the Chevrolet plant. The three plant bays have been installed and next will come the two chassis conveyors running east and west on the floor of the plant and nine conveyors for assembling of parts running north and south.

Seventy-five special sewing machines which will be operated by women have been put in the cutting room on the second floor of what was occupied as offices when the plant was turning out tractors. Special cutting machinery and tables are being installed.

Many Given Jobs.
The giant Fisher building in the operation of the Fisher building has been removed. One of the busiest places in the plant is the employment office where from 40 to 50 men come daily looking for work. Each morning as many as 100 men are employed for construction work and the others told that there may be some work Jan. 1 or 15.

FARM AND LABOR POWER SHOWN AT POLLS, ASSERTION

MACHINISTS' PRESIDENT OPENS POLITICAL CONFERENCE.

FORESEES VICTORY

Justice in Prices, Wages, Industrial and Political Control Demanded.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]
Cleveland.—Farmers and labor have discovered their joint power through the primary and there is now hope that our political and industrial future is safer than it ever was before.

William H. Johnston, international president of the Machinists' union, declared here Monday in opening the conference for progressive political action, over which he was presiding.

"Our first experiment is ended and our first preliminary skirmish on behalf of social and exact justice has come to a close," President Johnston declared, summarizing the recent election. "Through you, as a result of the efforts made by your associates and neighbors at home, the American people have spoken most emphatically. On Nov. 3 the stored up wrath of the people was let loose against the so-called captains of industry, the freebooters, profiteers, plunderers and political puppets of the discredited Harding administration."

No Selfish Program.
"We laboring people of the city and country have no selfish program. We would not and will not attempt to benefit at the expense of others. What we want and what we will have is justice—justice in prices and wages; justice in industrial and political control; justice in the security of life for all those who perform useful work and for those who are aged or who have been injured or maimed."

Great Forces Joined.
"We have consecrated our lives to the highest ideals of fair play in industry and the better representation in politics. Thus there will be brought together in understanding and political fellowship those great constructive and productive forces on which the welfare of the nation fundamentally rests."

Society Enrolls 150 New Members During Jubilee

Renewal of spiritual vigor and the addition of 150 new members to the ranks of the Holy Name society marked the close Sunday of the four days' golden jubilee of the society at St. Patrick's church. Special services began Thursday night and continued until Sunday when 300 men and boys attended the jubilee in a body.

The Rev. Patrick J. Phillips, S. J., professor at Loyola university, Chicago, gave a series of sermons at all masses Sunday. Following the mass at which the men received communion, a breakfast was served in the school dining hall by the wives and members of the society. A brilliant address was given by Richard O'Hanlon, principal of a Milwaukee school, an educator for 35 years. He was stationed in the Philippine Islands at the time of the war and was in the United States.

William Casey is president of the Holy Name society at St. Patrick's church. Golden jubilees are held in Catholic churches throughout the country sometime before January.

Lost Minister Is Found in Prison

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]
Milwaukee.—Cyril Butler, serving 30 days in the house of correction for vagrancy Monday was positively identified as the Rev. Donald Bullen, missing pastor of the Congregational church at Grand Marsh, Brookfield, and New Chicago, Wis. Butler and Rev. Bullen admitted his identity when confronted by Dr. Reed. The man was arrested Oct. 13, after a long search, and was held in the Milwaukee house of correction.

He came to this country from London.

STEERING WHEEL OF BATTLESHIP IS GIFT TO CITY

The brass steering wheel of the old battleship, "Wisconsin," has been given to Janesville as a souvenir of the great fighting vessel. This was announced Monday by Oscar N. Nelson, manager of the local Chamber of Commerce.

The wheel was procured for this city through the efforts of Senator Irving Lenroot. It will be placed either in the library or in court house park. It is four feet high and is on exhibit in the Chamber windows.

Janesville was the only city in the state to ask for a part of the dismantled ship as a remembrance.

Shopiere Man Is Shotgun Suicide

Firing both charges of a double barreled shotgun into his head with the barrels in his mouth, Edward Heiden, 46, butcher and farmer living in Turtle township not far from Shopiere, took his own life in the barn on his farm about 8:30 Sunday morning.

The body was found by his aged mother, Mrs. Mary Heiden who went to the barn when she saw he had not started on an errand to a nearby farmhouse, with his automobile still standing in the yard. Kurt Freymark, Heiden's closest friend, and neighbor, was called by Mrs. Heiden and he summoned Corner Lynn Whaley, Janesville, who pronounced it suicide.

Skeptical About Future
Laying by the side of the body in the pile of unshelled ears of corn was the 12-gauge double barreled shotgun with which Heiden had taken his life. Both cartridges had been discharged. Mrs. Heiden, alone in the home, had not heard the report.

No reason for Heiden's act can be given other than he suffered from stomach trouble and was skeptical about the future of the farming business. Friends said he had stated on several occasions that his neighbors were "down on him." He had acted perfectly rational the night before, Mr. Freymark said.

Mother, 80, Sole Survivor
Heiden was a powerfully built man, six feet three and one half inches tall, weighing more than 200 pounds. He moved onto the 73 acre farm which he owned in 1918, and built a new home three years ago. His neighbors said he was well liked and always could be relied upon.

Heiden was born in Milford township, Jefferson county, Nov. 24, 1876. His father died the year he was born. A sister and brother are dead and his 50-year old mother alone survives of the immediate family.

Before moving to Turtle, Heiden lived on a farm north of Janesville. Funeral services will be held at the home at 2 p. m. Tuesday, the Rev. Mr. Jahr of Heloit officiating. Burial will be in Shopiere cemetery.

SEYLER HEARING IS UP AGAIN TUESDAY

Extended Inquiry Into Affairs of Company Expected to be Opened Up.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]
Madison.—Hearing on the complaint against the William Seyler investment company of Milwaukee, asking that the permit of that company to sell stock of the M. R. C. and Elmhurst companies in Wisconsin be revoked, will be continued before the securities division of the railroad commission Tuesday, the commission announces.

The company recently presented to the securities division a new plan of doing business in the state and is asking approval of the blue sky officials. Tuesday's hearing is expected to open extended investigation into the affairs of the company.

On Dec. 11 the railroad commission will hear the application of the Chicago and Northwestern railway company to permanently discontinue certain of the trains between Rhineland and Antigo which were cut off during the strike of railroad men.

Application of the Duluth Street Railway company to increase railway fares in Superior will be heard by the commission Jan. 10.

The application of the Commonwealth Telephone company of Edgemoor for an increase in telephone service charges will be heard Dec. 15.

MEXICO ASKED TO LET AVIATORS CROSS BORDER

Tucson, Ariz.—Requests have been made of the Mexican government for permission of American airplanes to cross the border in their search for the missing army flyers. As soon as permission is received a squadron of planes will start south.

FLYERS ARE REPORTED NEAR ARIZONA LINE

Phoenix, Ariz.—The search for Col. F. C. Marshall and Lieut. Charles L. Webber, army aviators who have been missing since Thursday when they disappeared en route from San Diego, Cal., to Tucson, shifted farther south into the Arizona border strip Monday as the result of two reports indicating the presence of the missing plane and aviators in that region.

As a result of these reports, four of the nine airplanes which have been stationed at Tucson remained in the border strip Monday night, under command of Capt. R. G. Erwin, while the other five returned to Tucson under the personal command of Major Hoffmann.

Another important development was the enlistment of land forces of the army in the hunt and the arrival of Col. Edward Winslow, commanding troops at Fort Huachuca in Tucson, to take general command of the situation.

Col. Francis C. Marshall, lost with Lieut. Charles L. Webber of Denver, was a brigadier general commanding the 4th Cavalry of the 30th division during the World war, until October, 1918, when he took command of the second brigade, first division until May, 1919. He was with his command with the first American army at St. Mihiel and the Meuse-Argonne operations and with the third American army in the occupation of Germany.

Col. Marshall graduated from West Point in 1890. On September 5, 1904, he married the daughter of General J. H. Page, U. S. A., and has held commands in various army divisions since. His wife, Elizabeth, is a sister of the late Gen. Page, although he is now officially stationed at Washington.

Death Auto Was Running Slowly, Says Affidavit

Milwaukee.—Denial of published reports that the automobile of Nicholas Gonner, a Milwaukee resident, was killed in the wreck of his car near South Wayne, Wis., Dec. 2, was going 50 miles an hour at the time of the accident, is made in an affidavit filed here Monday by Elizabeth J. Hirschbeck, this city, who was in the car but escaped unhurt. The affidavit sets forth that Mr. Gonner was driving at a speed not to exceed 15 miles an hour when he crossed the bridge, overturned into a creek, plowing all of its passengers underneath, and drowning Mr. Gonner, his daughter, and John Schroeder, all of Dubuque.

JUNIOR CLUB WORK PROGRAM WIDENED

Prizes Awarded at Boys and Girls Banquet. General Committee Meets.

The foundation for the 1933 Rock county junior club program was outlined during meetings held Saturday afternoon in the Janesville Y. M. C. A. There were 130 attending the banquet given by the banks and Farm Bureau for the boys and girls. Following the banquet meeting the new Rock county club committee went into session to consider the future club work which was divided, up along the following major lines:

- 1.—Dairy club, with each breed having its own club and leaders.
- 2.—Baby beef club, with the best breeds competing.
- 3.—Acres of Corn club, with J. K. Arnot, leader.
- 4.—Pig club, to be divided up among the popular breeds with leaders for each breed.
- 5.—Sheep Club with all breeds competing. Russell Clark agreed to take charge of this work with the help of Broughton Brothers, W. G. Miles, Seth Crall and others.
- 6.—Domestic science club for rural girls with a leader for the entire county.

Township Leaders
In each township the general committee will name a supervisor, who is charged with visiting all club members and encouraging them in their work. The ones that have been named to be leaders in the clubs put forward are as follows: George Clark, Avalon, Berkshire swine; Ira Inman and Bert Skinner, Beloit, Brown Swiss cattle; W. J. Dougan, Beloit, Guernsey cattle; Robert Traylor, Kohshokong, milking Shorthorn dairy cattle; J. C. Robinson, Horrocks, and J. J. McCann, Shorthorns, for the Baby Beef contests; Ellis Douglas, Hanover, Jerseys with the Durcote, Jersey, Poland-China swine association, and Holstein association to name leaders at future meetings. Butts and Babcock, Evansville, will have charge of the Chester White club. A new plan is to be followed on the pig club which was successfully followed in Lee county, Iowa. Swine breeders will be called in for a meeting to consider the plan later this month.

A better exhibit will be arranged for at the Rock county fair for the juniors and cups in addition to the premiums offered for the sweepstakes winners.

Prizes Are Awarded
"The greatest progress in farm development is in junior clubs," declared J. A. Craig. "Through no other agency is improvement obtained more quickly."

The speaker urged the boys and girls to keep close track of their record books, keeping accurate figures and accounts.

William McNeil, state club leader, spoke during the meeting, praising the county for its success and urging greater work next year.

J. K. Arnot presided during the meeting. The winners of the Gazette sweepstakes are as follows:

Calf club—Edith Clark, also first place at Wisconsin state fair, first at Wisconsin junior livestock exposition and fourth at the National dairy show.

Sheep club—James Arnold, also of Corn club—Edwin Krueger, first place—Lewis Croft.

Applicants who made out by the juniors for membership in the next year's club.

The Milton high school orchestra played during the banquet. It is hoped to have at least 300 boys and girls interested in club work next year.

Telephone 35.

Elkhorn—Miss Elma G. Huber and Robert P. Wolbert have applied to the county clerk for a marriage license. Miss Huber is the daughter of Edward Huber, chairman of the town of Sharon, and is teaching school near Rockford. Mr. Wolbert is employed by the Northwestern railway company at Beloit.

Miss Annie F. Napper, Lake Geneva, has purchased two lots on Cornudas Beach, Cal., where she usually spends the winter.

Ordered Cement

The county state road and bridge committee held a meeting in the court house Saturday and contracted with the state for the cement to be used in road construction. Last year the county saved over $10,000 by purchasing cement through the state department.

Mrs. Thomas Farmerson is a patient in Wesley Memorial hospital, Chicago. After the period of preparation she will submit to an operation by Dr. Allen C. Kenavall, a nerve specialist.

Frank Holton and his home Thursday and United Rehearsal Schults and Alice Jordan. Mr. Schults resides in the town of Sugar Creek.

The Holton factory is installing a new lighting system in several departments, using the mercury vapor lights. A large part of the factory force is working until 10 p. m. in order to care for the holiday trade. By the new lighting system the buildings will be made as light as day.

G. Webster was a host at a party of the younger set Friday night at a radio party. Dancing was indulged in and refreshments served.

Miss Bertina Decht, county nurse, is spending several days in Darion, which can soon boast of having a model school. The children have been vaccinated, measured and defects remedied, or in process of correction.

Education Week Closes
The seventh and eighth grades closed American educational week with a good program Friday. Don and the Misses Rosenbauer and Wagon carried out the ideas for subjects on immigration, the country's need of conservation, and the school's value to the country. There was public music, and the pupils gave a dramatization of "Masters of the Flax."

The school board recently purchased a large new flag for the flag staff.

The North Walworth school held a bazaar and oyster dinner Saturday for the new model school for the benefit of the playground equipment recently purchased. County Superintendent Marshall and her assistants attended and were surprised to find so much work done and the many toys made by the children, consisting of swings, wheelbarrows, beds, tables, chairs, cradles, plate racks, and bird houses in wood; also towels, handkerchiefs, quilt protectors, and candy. The neighborhood women served dinner.

Personal
Mrs. J. Walter Strong was in Milwaukee Saturday.

H. J. Charlton attended the meeting of the Wisconsin Boys' Danu association in Madison Saturday.

LAKE GENEVA

Lake Geneva—Leo Butler, profes-sional golf instructor, who has been located at Sioux City, Ia., during the Lake Geneva Poultry association will take place Jan. 2, 3, 4, 5, 6 and 7. This is one of the finest exhibits shown here during the year. Lake Geneva is the aim of the association to do more advertising next season.

The regular meeting of the Lake Geneva Retail Merchants' association is scheduled to take place Monday night. This association has been ben-eficial to Lake Geneva, inasmuch as considerable advertising throughout the state, and in fact a wider terri-tory, has brought big business for the town during the summer months. It

R. T. Glasco, for three years county agent in Rock county, was retained for this office during a meeting held by the Rock county board of agricultural committee in the court house Saturday afternoon. The committee decided to call a meeting Jan. 8, 1923, at which time representatives of the different breed associations of the county will be called in for a conference to outline the 1923 work of the county agent.

The committee expressed a desire to outline a program to be strictly followed that would bring greater results to the county. The report of the county agent, which was along lines laid down by the committee a year ago, was read and will be submitted at the next board meeting. A new vision of the importance of a definite program for the county to follow was submitted by J. A. Craig, which impressed the supervisors and representatives who outline the policies to be followed by the county agent.

Definite Program—This committee and others, as a matter of fact, has been seeing the seed to this over too big a ground, declared Mr. Craig. "We must lay down certain lines of work to be followed on its feet in Rock county. From coast to coast the nation faces a condition of agriculture not being prosperous. Livestock districts are in better condition than others. It is a pitiful shame when apple growers of Washington are not picking their fruit off trees because of poor transportation and potato raisers are letting their crops rot in the ground because of low markets.

"The public does not realize the condition. Most every organization and sectional interest are floundering around trying to do something. About the only one that is working to a definite solution is the American Farm Bureau. We will get results in Rock county that will pull our farmers out of the depression when we get down to bed rock and establish business methods in our running of agricultural affairs. Politics will not cure the evils. Laws cannot establish market values. Legislation can correct errors and faults but we must have a real business organization, run efficiently, to represent Rock county. We want to be really operative to encourage all in the county to increase their incomes.

The decreasing incomes realized off our farms will drive the farmers into a central plan of organization whereby they stand together. The committee and all farmers must work through the county. Develop County.

"Have we are in Rock county with the best markets in the world right at our door, with the best soils and natural condition, and until the last year been dabbling around at this and that without getting any results. Our farmers must join to results. We are certainly going to extend the demand for their product and build up the main industry of the county—livestock.

"No one man can succeed with the big variety of work that was outlined last year for the county agent. There is too much ground covered. We must do it in a different way. We must concentrate on the big things and concentrate on the work so that it is divided up in the county without duplication or overlapping. There are certain visions of work that are certain. By pushing them all ahead to get the definite results for all farmers progressive enough to have what the present market demands."

During the afternoon the county committee went over the financial budget for 1923 and voted to retain R. T. Glasco. At future meetings the committee will call in different representatives to make recommendations on county policies.

Greek Refugees' Relief Station Is Opened Here

Response to the call for clothing for Greek refugees, sent out by the Janesville branch, American Red Cross was Friday Saturday and Sunday, than Friday and Saturday were open at the city hall for the first time to receive clothing and any donations. This was done somewhat to the delay in opening the rooms, and it is hoped that citizens will respond more during the coming days. The rooms will be opened daily from 2 to 4:30.

A committee made up of Mrs. Francis Grant, Miss Sarah Richardson and Miss Gertrude Cobb has charge of the room and secure one person to be there each afternoon. The Janesville branch is taking this means to help the Greek refugees, driven from their homes, rather than send money. Their treasury will be depleted by the work they are doing in the city, chief of which is the support of the Greek nation. Other branches in the county are sending money and some clothing also.

HERE IS THE PLACE TO DO SHOPPING.

Janesville is the place for Christmas shopping. Never have the stores been more attractive or the gifts more entrancing. It makes little difference what it is that the heart desires and the purse can afford, it is to be found here in Janesville and the merchants have never been more deserving of a holiday patronage than in 1922. That is one reason why the public has been coming to Janesville for the early weeks of the shopping season and we have every reason to believe that the crowds will increase as the days begin to shorten and the Christmas time is closer at hand. It is well to buy early. There never was a better time than right now to shop. The weather is excellent and the stores less crowded than they will be a week later. This week should see the top of sales but it will not, because the last name of the late shopper is legion. He will rush in at 11:45 on Saturday night, December 23, and want something that has been sold and delivered for ten days to some one else.

Shop early, shop carefully and intelligently and shop in Janesville.

FAILURE OF LIGHT WINE AND BEER.

The light wine and beer advocates should read what Dr. Ernest Ely, of Vardoe, Norway says of the light wine and beer permitted by law in Norway. After calling Norway's prohibition law a most stupid political blunder, he says that "Our law is not so drastic as that of the United States in that it prohibits only strong liquors. We can still have light wines and beers," and then he proceeds to show that the country is going to the dogs because the home stills are making poisonous hooch. He also calls attention to the smuggling in of whiskey. All the reasons given by the light wine and beer advocates for the permission to have these small alcoholic drinks are shown to be just the reason why Norway is suffering, according to this advocate of openly sold liquor from Norway.

It would seem that this removes the very foundation of the argument for light wines and beer, said here to be the one antidote for the bootlegger and the home brew poison maker. The good doctor also says the most northerly in the world, "needs strong liquors to save fats." In this he violates every rule laid down for preservation of life in the Arctic or in high altitudes where alcohol is looked upon as most dangerous of remedies and, used as a beverage, soon kills. The use of alcohol in such climates, according to all explorers, the medical profession, and those familiar with the effects of drinking of stimulants, is to weaken the power of resistance and cause physical destruction.

The new progressive bloc is like a Central American army—all generals.

MILWAUKEE'S COMMANDING POSITION.

Milwaukee is fourth of the Great Lakes ports as shown by the tonnage reports of the department of commerce for the year ending June 30, 1922. Few of us realize the immense importance of the state's lake port and largest city, Milwaukee, being exceeded only by the cities of Chicago, Toledo and Cleveland in that order. Another Wisconsin city, Superior, is sixth in lake tonnage. These two cities have together a tonnage greater than any other city excepting Chicago. Milwaukee handled 555,225 tons of freight in the year for which statistics are compiled. All this adds to the wealth and greatness of the state of Wisconsin. Milwaukee is destined to be a greater city even than it is now industrially, if we do not attempt to drive out all industry by restrictive laws and punitive measures in legislation, which are programmed by some of the radical element achieving the doubtful glory of legislative seats at the last election. And the report of Milwaukee's tonnage is also a powerful argument in favor of the St. Lawrence ship canal. With the roads centering there to carry grain and other products to the lake, the traffic with ocean going vessels docking at the Milwaukee port would be enormous. We have many reasons to be proud of the state's metropolis and to give every support to the St. Lawrence canal with our lake cities in mind.

Day by day, in every way, Bill Hohenzollern finds his wife has come to stay.

Clark M. Perry will make a good prohibition commissioner if one may judge from his past record. He is a careful, conscientious man, with a fine sense of the things that are honorable, a reputation as an efficient executive and there is no question of his integrity. So long as James Stone, who through ill health for some time had been relieved in part of the duties of the office, has served there has been no breath of scandal but there has been woeful lack of initiative. Under Mr. Perry the public may be assured that the president's plea for better enforcement will be heeded.

We have not had a rise out of Sun, of China, for some time.

New York state representatives and others interested in the slaughter of the St. Lawrence waterway have been celebrating what they believe to be the death of the plan for the present congress session at least. The bill for the water-

American Solves Pump Problem

By FREDERIC J. HASKIN

Washington.—Raising water from one level to a higher level at the minimum cost and greatest efficiency has been a problem of the ages. Now it is said that it has been solved by an invention shortly to be tested in Washington.

Thomas Gaskell Allen, an American by birth and a graduate of an American university, is the inventor. Mr. Allen is now a British subject and lives in London, where he is the head of a firm of engineers, but it is his invention, which he calls the hydratomat—the water self-mover—that is to be permitted to claim entire credit.

Sir Oliver Lodge has investigated the hydratomat and prepared a long technical report in which he ranks the device as one of the greatest inventions the world has ever known.

When the news of the marvel first reached this country, official representatives in London were instructed to look into it, and upon the reports made to Washington, the bureau of weights and measures proceeded to build a working model here.

Mr. Allen recently conferred with government officials and will return in a short time when the tests are to be made. Meanwhile another experimental model has been installed in a New York office building and is said to be operating successfully.

Briefly described, the hydratomat is a device that raises water to any desired height automatically, the water itself furnishing the power. Once installed it will continue to function steadily without interruption and without any attention until it wears out. That sounds like perpetual motion, a problem that has never been solved although inventors have worked at it for centuries with so little success that whenever one comes forward with the claim that at last he has made the great discovery he is looked upon as a candidate for the booby-hatch.

But the hydratomat is perpetual motion, it is said, insofar as it will continue to operate as long as the flow of water continues and the machine holds together. Moreover, it will work efficiently when the flow of water is so slight that it could not be utilized in any other way. Also it may be constructed on a small scale adaptable to the requirements of a farmer who would use it on a small creek to raise water for irrigating purposes and to develop power to run his machinery and lighting plant, or it may be built on a scale sufficiently large to furnish the water supply for a large city.

Obviously the first use of water for mechanical purposes involved leading the water from a stream or other source for use at another place. One of the primitive devices for raising water from a stream was the hoia, which consisted of a large upright framework like a wheel, placed so that the flow of the current turned it on its axis. To the periphery of the wheel were attached hinged buckets, which were often earthen jars as they dipped in the stream and upon being carried to the top were emptied by a tripping device into a trough which led the water away on the higher level.

Later Archimedes developed his screw, which consisted of a coil of pipe about a cylinder, set at a considerable angle from the vertical. To run this a water wheel or turbine was necessary. Theoretically water could be raised to any height in this manner, but practically it required too much power, the gearing of wheels complicated the work, and there were other objections. The hydratomat was more efficient and more practical and the principle has been widely applied.

Still another automatic machine is the windmill, but it is complicated and more or less unwieldy. However, the great objection to it is that it operates only when the wind blows. Mr. Allen's invention, it is claimed, meets and overcomes the objections to all these devices.

The hydratomat is described as essentially a reciprocating engine in which the power of water and air alternately develop the power. It does not work by shock or impetus as in the case of the water ram. It does not require the machinery necessary to operate the Archimedian screw. Once installed it requires no attention to keep it working smoothly. In other words, the initial cost of building and installing the device is the only expense involved.

The hydratomat is not a turbine in any sense. However, when water has been raised by it to a desired height, the water may be permitted to fall and operate a turbine or similar mechanism. Thus a stopping power which is utilized as desired in machinery directly to the cylinder, which escapes through a pipe opening from the top and leading to another cylinder, which is filled with water. As the air enters the second cylinder the water which it contains is forced out through a pipe to a third cylinder placed at a higher level. Thus the pressure of the water flowing into the first cylinder is utilized to force the water from the level of the second to the third. The action is purely automatic, the compressed air acting as a piston.

Technical details are given as to the actual operation of the hydratomat that are of interest chiefly to the student of mechanics. To the average person, the interesting points are that the device is started it will run automatically for years, that it works with little or no strain on the pipes, and that it is fool proof.

JUST FOLKS

TEAM-WORK.
It's all very well to have courage and skill. And it's fine to be counted a star. But the single deed with its touch of thrill doesn't tell us the man you are. For there's no lone hand in the game we play. We must work to a bigger scheme. And the thing that counts in the world today is how do you pull with the team?

They may sound your praise and may call you great. They may single you out for fame. But you must work with your running mate. Or never will you win the game. For never the work of one is done. For the man with a selfish dream. For the battle is lost or the battle is won. By the spirit of the team.

It is all very well to fight for fame. But the cause is a bigger need. And what you do for the good of the game. Counts more than the flash of speed. It's the long, long haul and the dreary grind. Where the sweat but does not gleam. And it's leaving all thought of self behind. That fashions a winning team.

You may think it fine to be praised for skill. But a greater thing to do is to sell your mind and set your will. On the goal that's just in view. It's helping your fellow man to score. When his chances are hopeless seem. It's forgetting self till the game is over. And fighting for the team.

ON THE SPUR OF THE MOMENT

By ROY K. MOULTON.

Cone's method is to say to yourself, "Every day, in every way, I am becoming better and better." And early morning actors will adapt themselves to this new idea.

Excel in some art that's of little import. Indulge in a ridiculous book. Or gladden the fans in commercialized sport. Or pose as a prince through a crook. The papers and posters will broadcast your name. And the crowds will come flocking to pay. But if you persist in deserving real fame—God help you; you'll fall by the way.

Better shine as a star in a cinema show. Or prove to the mob you can fight. The glad hand will greet you wherever you go. You're a man among men overnight. So take this advice, whoever you be: If you're young and desire renown: Don't look for the same in a college degree Unless you own half of the town.

—James Lawlor.

Who's Who Today

COLONEL JAMES G. SCRUGHAM.

Colonel James G. Scrugham, governor-elect of Nevada, made his debut as a political candidate at the recent election. It was the first time his name had ever appeared on an election ballot. There seems to be a tradition of Nevada that the governor should be a native-born citizen of the state. Colonel Scrugham was born in Kentucky. He is a mining engineer and was elected governor of Nevada in 1920. He is a member of the United States Senate and has been a member of the Nevada State Senate.

Eighteen years ago the governor-elect went to the University of Nevada as a professor of engineering. He is a native of Lexington, Ky. He married a girl from his home town in 1904 and was afterwards connected with various leading engineering concerns in the west. He finally made his home in Reno, Nev., where he still lives.

At the time of the war Scrugham resigned as state engineer to enlist and being from Kentucky it is not surprising that he soon became a Colonel. He held charge of production of gun carriages and mountings. After the war he resumed his work as state engineer. He has traveled 11,000 miles nearly all within the state in two years in that office. As soon as he had voted at the recent election he left for Santa Fe, N. M., to attend a meeting of the Colorado commission of which Herbert Hoover is chairman. The purpose of the commission is to build the greatest power plant in the world at the Boulder canyon, on the Nevada-Arizona border.

OPINIONS OF OTHERS

All Right That Way.

We note the following in the columns of our temporarily pessimistic contemporary, the News of Elizabeth:

The hand that rocks the cradle is now slugged with nicotine. And the foot upon the rocker. Likes to step on gasoline. Oh, cheer up, neighbor. The woman steps on the gasoline, or in other words, takes off the family car, probably takes the babies along with her, and the babies are better off in the pure air than rocking in a stuffy cradle. As for the hand slugged with nicotine, does not our friend know that the nicotine in the cigarette holder for the woman who smokes a cigarette? And the foot sticks by its gurns upon one point. It is improper for women to smoke, it is improper for men. Do all the men who object to women smoking refrain from smoking themselves?—Louisville, Ky., Post.

LOOKING BACKWARD

Forty Years Ago.

Dec. 11, 1882.—The original of the Janesville Machine company's work having been repaired, the electric lights will again be on display to-night.—Four drunks, a thief and a tramp were arrested in the last 3 hours by Marshal Hogan. Three tramps and two drunks were taken care of in municipal court this morning, relieving the jail somewhat.

Thirty Years Ago.

Dec. 11, 1892.—E. Francis Moran, "The long-haired poet of the racing track" as he likes to call himself, was again in jail last night, this time on a charge of stealing a horse. In former times, it has been at the instigation of his wife, "Dear Minnie" as she appears in his poems. Stock for the Champion Shelf company, located at Spring Brook, is selling well.

Ten Years Ago.

Dec. 11, 1902.—By the first of next April, there will be 35 rural routes out of this city, while there are now but four. A government official is now here laying them out.—Opinion expressed at the meeting of the Twilight club last night is that the government of this city faces the times. W. A. Jackson was leader of the program.

Ten Years Ago.

Dec. 11, 1912.—Postmaster Valentine has received a notification that parcels post stamps will be sent him. The order starting this new service will go into effect January 1. The approaching recall of the present city government is attracting much local interest, which seems to be divided.

EMETICS FOR EMERGENCY USE

A good emetic should be kept in every medicine cupboard. I advise two items Nos. 3 and 24 in the list suggested in a previous talk, on "What Not to Do Before the Doctor Arrives." One is the well known, old reliable Syrup of Ipecac.

Although this is an all-around good medicine to keep in the house, particularly when there are children hanging around the place, syrup of Ipecac has two serious drawbacks as a first aid remedy. First, it takes time to 15 to 20 minutes in most cases, and in many cases at any rate that would be too long to wait. And second, it sometimes fails to act at all. So I include another emetic for emergency use, which I will describe later.

The classical use for syrup of Ipecac is as a purgative. One or two teaspoonfuls may be given a young child with a cold, to induce vomiting, which relieves the spasms of the larynx and relieves the breathing. If it fails to work within 15 minutes, a second dose may be given. And that is enough for the time being. The same dose of treatment has always been relied on to clear mucus and fluid from the chest and breathing passages of a child choking with bronchitis. Very small doses, just a drop or two of syrup of Ipecac, given in water, every two hours, will act as a stimulant expectorant in cases of bronchitis in the earlier stage when there is much dry irritating coughing. It should not be continued more than two days. Ipecac has the reputation of doing good as a local emetic in chronic inflammation of the gums, when the gums bleed easily and are spongy, perhaps even in the condition known as pyorrhea. It is applied in very dilute solution, rubbed on the gums once daily or on the toothbrush. A drop or two of the syrup in an ounce of water will serve the purpose.

Copper Sulphate Solution
In emergencies such as poisoning when a prompt emetic is required, Ipecac is too slow. I know of nothing so quick and sure as a solution of one grain of copper sulphate in a tablespoonful (half an ounce) of water. This acts with all the liveliness of a rubber ball. In my own emergency kit I carry a small vial of one.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS.
Can the doctor when I have a bad cold, or is there something I can do just a year or two and don't know what to do, but I know you will give me the right advice. You did before I was driven and I shall not be able to repay you. (Mrs. H. H. M.)

Answer—Yes, call the doctor and if the trouble is of minor character and the doctor can instruct you to deal with such trouble. This is cheaper and much safer than using the baby for a subject or experiment.

Canned Fruits.
I cannot bear and berries, using new Mason jars with metal lids said to be a safe thing. Is such fruit safe to eat? (Mrs. M. L.)

Answer—Yes. Is a good policy to eat nothing but milk for a day now and then? If so, how much milk and how often should I eat? (W. K.)

Answer—Not for healthy persons, as a rule. No particular harm in it if you can have pure sugar milk. It is right once every two hours.

Q. On how many roads has the stripes of the shepahan been settled? A. 1.

Q. Officers of the unions have been quoted as saying that agreements have been reached on 124 railroads. Out of 350,000 striking shipmen about 100,000 have backed work. A. 1.

Q. What did the governor of North Carolina say to the governor of South Carolina? J. H. H.

A. The historic speech of the governor of North Carolina to the state legislature, which was given on the staircase of the "Old White" at Sulphur Springs is said to have been "It is a long time between drinks."

Q. Please tell me something about the American Samoan Islands? L. O. B.

A. The people of American Samoa are largely native; the total number approximately 7,500. The area of the island is 77 square miles. Nearly all the land is owned by natives. The soil is fertile; fruits, chiefly oranges, grapefruit, limes and citrus, are cultivated. Copra is the staple product. There are 15 public schools in which the English language is taught.

Q. When were tin cans first used? O. L. T.

A. In 1823 William Underwood began to substitute tin for glass in the canning business, but it was a number of years before the use of the tin can may be said to have been established. The first machine made can was invented by Allen Taylor in 1847.

Q. Who said "and is as good as a wind to a blind horse"? F. W. H.

A. The quotation is from Thomas Chandler Haliburton, who was born in Nova Scotia and died in England. He was a humorist and a writer of the "Tattle-Tale" series.

Q. What causes the explosions when a gas-burner is on fire? T. M. H.

A. Gas stoves being hollow, having no ribs and being divided inside into a number of sections, are very combustible when dried in the sun and the air confined within the hollow sections warmed by the external heat exploded with a bang. The explosion is caused by the gas in the hollow sections being ignited by the flame of the burner.

Q. Is French taught in the public schools of Canada? F. W. H.

A. Formerly French and French were officially recognized in the primary public schools of Canada.

At the Theatres

AT THE HEVERLY.

In "Under Oath," beautiful Elaine Hammerstein has an excellent vehicle to display her particular style of beauty. Playing the part of the daughter of a wealthy city man, she has opportunity to wear many elaborate gowns, at which she is unequalled. While the story of the stress under which she is seen, offers many opportunities in which Miss Hammerstein comes up to her mark. The appearance of two popular male stars, Marion Hamilton and Miles Walsh, adds much to the attractiveness of the picture, while an unusually good comedy, "The High Sign," starring Busby Berkeley, two other comedies and a play of the usual excellence, complete the program to remain there through Tuesday night.

CATTLE.—Continued in the price range of last week's featured last week's cattle trade. The market on short-fed steers has been held in abundance of western grassers, with which they came in direct competition. Last week was a little over for western grassers and the market on short-fed improved materially.

Receipts of native steers were also moderately light and local and outside demand were generally good. Cooler weather had a fresh, meaty influence on the market at all points. Some of the one or two markets reported higher prices, but local markets were only strong. Quotations for low grade killing steers and native beef cattle are as follows:

Low grade steers. $3.75 to 7.00
Common to fair. 4.00 to 5.25
Fair to good. 5.25 to 6.25

Chicago Review.—Although wheat touched a new high price record for the season Monday in the early dealings, the market was underlain by a subback profit taking on the part of holders, together with the fact that Liverpool quotations failed to reflect fully Saturday's advance in American wheat. The chief reason given for the decline was the opening, which ranged from 45¢ decline to 1/2¢ advance, with May $1.40 1/2, and July $1.05 1/2 to 1 1/8, was followed by slight gains and then by a general sag to below Saturday's finish. Corn as well as wheat reached new top prices for the season, but later eased off with wheat. An early opening of 1 1/2¢ up, May $1.12 1/2, 7 1/4, the market lost most of its gains.

Corn started 1 1/2¢ up, May $1.12 1/2, 7 1/4, and later held around Saturday's latest figures.

Provisions were higher.

TO TEN MEN IN THIS CITY

An Interesting Analysis of an Intensely Interesting Kind of Circulation

THERE are not over ten men in this city—or twenty at the most—who will be much interested in what follows. You are the same ten or twenty men we spoke to in our page last week. But you will be exceedingly interested. All others may turn the page.

We told you last week of the surprising thing that had happened in Chicago; that The Chicago Evening American after raising its price to 3 cents now has the largest circulation of any evening newspaper published in Chicago and the second largest 3-cent evening newspaper circulation in America.

A YEAR AGO, people said it was fool-hardy for the Chicago Evening American to raise its price to 3c. They said it would be a death blow to an important newspaper property; that with its fifty year old competitor still selling for 2c, the American circulation would practically be eliminated.

But it wasn't fool-hardy, it wasn't even gambling. It was a sure thing which netted a revenue of $1,250,000 in extra pennies, as well as a circulation increase to first place in the evening paper field of Chicago and second place in the 3-cent evening paper field of America.

It was a sure thing because we knew what we were about. And what follows is perhaps the most interesting analysis of newspaper circulation that has ever been made.

For twenty years the Evening American has been building the kind of newspaper that appeals to people under forty or to people who think under forty. In other words, a newspaper for the coming generation and for the generation that is still coming; for young people just getting married and starting out in life, for older ones just getting their full grip of power—but always for those who felt that they were still coming—not going.

We built this kind of a newspaper for three reasons:

First, because there are more people under forty than there are over forty.

Second, because such minds are more open to new things.

And third, because, although younger people may have less, they spend more.

Now, the American is the only paper in Chicago that deliberately appeals to the generation that is still up and coming; and, therefore, we knew that to such people a penny was not going to make any difference in the choice of the paper they wanted.

And it didn't.

It would amaze you to see how completely this plan has worked out. If you will stand at any one of the thousands of newspaper corners in any part of Chicago where all four Chicago evening papers are being sold and make an actual count, you will see that probably seven out of ten of all people under forty choose the American. And that this represents considerably over half of all the newspaper reading people of Chicago.

You will also be amazed to see how the Evening American and one other evening paper practically cover ALL of Chicago and its nearby markets—the other paper appealing to the older conservatives and the American appealing almost universally to the “generation-under-forty.”

This may give you a viewpoint you have never thought of before. Namely:

That a newspaper that directs its reader interest consistently toward the younger generation—and in every particular to people under forty—must inevitably acquire the largest number of readers in its territory.

Perfectly logical, when you come to think about it, because there are far more people under forty than there are over forty. And when you build a paper for people under forty, they naturally buy it and read it.

And Now, As To The Advisability of An Under-Forty Circulation

We quoted above the three reasons for building this kind of circulation. The second and third reasons are the important ones to you: Namely, that the minds of the people under forty and of people who think under forty are more open to new things; and that, although they may have less, they spend more.

It is very easy to get at the truth of these facts. All you have to do is to take the statistics of people over forty who buy new cars, who buy washing machines, or vacuum sweepers, or furniture or labor saving devices or more than two suits a year (men's or women's) or more than the necessary amount of hosiery or shoes or underwear—to say nothing of baby carriages or toys.

The reason is very simple: the necessary things they already have. The new things they do not take to, because age has established its habits and is not venturesome; and the superfluous things they are trying to get rid of because they are unpacking their load as they get along in years.

On the other hand, the younger generation is interested in motor cars, of the kind according to its pocketbook. And, please remember, youth is not a measure of poverty any more than age is a measure of wealth: there are more poor old people than there are poor young ones. Youth is also interested in furniture because it is building new homes. It is interested in labor-saving devices and in all kinds of new appliances, from washing machines to vacuum cleaners, because youth is venturesome and is always seeking new things. Youth wants a whole lot more than two suits of clothes a year, (men's or women's) wants all the shoes, stockings, underwear, shirts, collars, neckties, handkerchiefs and every other kind of adornment it can get, because these things belong to youth. AND IT GETS THEM BECAUSE YOUTH USUALLY GETS WHAT IT GOES AFTER. As for baby carriages and toys—well—to youth these are not a matter of choice.

And finally, although they may have less, they spend more. This sounds like an Irish bull, but it's true. Age is always spending a part of what remains. Youth is always spending from the immeasurable store of wealth that the future holds. To age, a dollar is a fixed part of a certain necessary outlay for the month or the year. To youth, a dollar is only something that it happens to have in its pocket at that time for a necktie or a pair of stockings or a first payment down for whatever its fancy may light upon and its purse afford. And this is equally true whether measured in pennies or in hundred dollar bills. Even where youth is provident, it is only provident for a purpose and that purpose is for future power.

Now that is the kind of a paper the American started to build twenty years ago. That is the kind of a paper it has been building ever since and these are the reasons why it has built that kind of a paper.

As for circulation—a 400,000 daily average answers that emphatically

And as for pulling power—it just can't help having pulling power!

TIGER HAS HOPES OF 5-POWER PACT

Treaty Similar to Pacific Agreement Hoped for by Clemenceau.

By DAVID LAWRENCE Copyright, 1922, by Janesville Daily Gazette.

Washington—France, the United States, Great Britain, Italy and Germany united to insure the peace of Europe just as the four powers banded themselves a year ago in a 10-year treaty to maintain the peace of the Pacific—this may yet be the outcome of former Premier Clemenceau's visit to America.

The aged French statesman did not venture to make a concrete suggestion to conform with the purpose of his mission until he read President Harding's address to congress Thursday in which Mr. Harding recommended the four-power pact in the Pacific as a model for like assurances elsewhere in the world any common interest are concerned.

When the Washington conference on limitation of armaments was in session a year ago, the same thought was put forward informally but as the American aid was concerned it was made clear that no such project could be considered until the four power pact in the Pacific had been ratified. Twelve months have passed without ratification by France. But the pact is now being debated in the French parliament and will be ratified soon, thus paving the way for a revival of the idea of a European treaty.

Must Include Germany

The French have not looked kindly on the idea of including Germany in such a tranquillizing pact but if they agree to follow Mr. Harding's model, Germany must be included. The principal difference between the four power pact and other offensive and defensive alliances is that the latter were usually formed at a single power or group of powers. Instead of excluding Japan, with which nation it had been thought friction ultimately would come, that country was included and made a guarantor of the peace of the Pacific along with France, Great Britain and the United States.

To provide an exact parallel, the wording of a treaty to tranquillize Europe and yet conform to the spirit and letter of the document which already has been ratified by the United States senate, with respect to one region of the world, would be as follows:

"The high contracting parties agree as between themselves to respect their rights in relation to their interests in Europe."

Issue to Conference

If there should develop between any of the high contracting parties a controversy arising out of any European question and involving

VOICE OF THE PEOPLE

Editor Gazette:

"The Messiah" is again to be sung in a few days. When I heard it last year it was with delight in the singing and the playing and the leadership. But I also came away with a regret that even a year has not made me forget. There was APLAUSE.

Before going to the concert, the thought of the possibility of applause never even entered my mind. Perhaps those in charge of the chorus had no such thoughts. But when the chorus started it, and the others followed, I will admit that the applause was intended for the singers and players. But when we came to sing to think over the words of the musical text how can we, applaud them.

"The Messiah" is a sacred cantata. Its theme is of the Savior, born, crucified and risen. Around these thoughts sacred to every Christian heart, Handel has with matchless skill woven the threads of his inspired music. The whole spirit of the music of this cantata breathes the thought of reverence and devotion. And surely nothing will be lost by keeping that finest of all feelings, true reverence for holy things. And "The Messiah" has lived and held its appeal to this religious spirit in it.

When the soloist sings the beautiful aria, "I know that my Redeemer liveth" or the chorus "For unto us a Child is born" and "Worthy the Lamb that was slain" will we not gain in appreciation when we think quietly of the words sung, rather than of applause for the singers?

I have taken up this question with the Community Chorus chairman, but it seems to me rather a matter of the music loving people feeling that there should be no applause, and so expressing themselves to the committee. To keep alive the beautiful spirit of reverence at the Christmas season is surely a good and noble thing.

Plan Wider Use of New School in 'Evansville'

At a joint meeting of 50 members of the Parent-Teacher association and the W. C. T. U. in Evansville, Friday afternoon, it was decided that each organization will appoint a committee to consider plans for a wider use of the new grade school building as a community social center, and for other recreational activities.

The meeting was held in the first grade room. Mrs. Florence Hyde, community editor of the Gazette, discussed the community movement and the various types of community centers, stating that the most successful and far-reaching work is being done through social center activities in

OBTAIN FUNDS FOR POOLING TOBACCO

More than 80 Percent of Crop to be Marketed Through State Pool.

Madison—Financing plans of the Northern Wisconsin Tobacco Pool, a cooperative marketing organization of Wisconsin tobacco growers, were practically completed at a meeting of bankers held here. Agreement was reached which assures the pool of adequate funds to market the 1922 crop.

Warehousing facilities have been obtained at points of use in the four growing districts of the state; ready to take in their first tobacco from the farmers on January 1. C. N. Pulley, of the state department of markets said.

Over 80 percent of the Wisconsin tobacco crop of 40,000,000 pounds will be handled by the cooperative marketing organization, its backers say.
